

Horace Mann teams up with DonorsChoose.org to help fund teacher projects

Horace Mann is proud to be a national sponsor of DonorsChoose.org, a non-profit organization that connects donors to classroom projects in need of funding. It's a great opportunity for teachers to request funding for projects that your school's budget can't absorb.

Using DonorsChoose.org is simple. Teachers just register, choose the materials needed for a specific classroom project, write a bit about the students and how this project will help them, and, finally, click a button to tell their social network contacts about their classroom needs. Every "friend" who makes a donation will see their donation doubled by Horace Mann* until the company has donated $250,000 to DonorsChoose.org.
